Please refer to itinerary details, inclusions, exclusions and fine print condition terms. A valid passport and Turkish Visa (purchased upon arrival for $20 pp) are required.

() Use your frequent flyer miles to get there for FREE, or let me help you secure air fares to Istanbul on the above dates for about $750-$850 (from San Francisco, as of September 15, 2009); Many other USA gateways available as well – please inquire!*

Optional 4-night extension to Cappadocia (in a "cave hotel")

March 21 – 25, 2010

$729 pp (land and air from Istanbul)

Location. Location. Location. This is the story of Turkey – where east meets west, Europe meets Asia, Islam meets Christianity, and where the world's oldest city was discovered. Alexander the Great was the first to meld the cultures, and then many followed suit. Across history Turkey was the place where empires frequently changed hands – the Greeks, Romans, Byzantines and Ottomans all left their mark on this land. It is here that whirling dervishes spun themselves into trances in a mystical search for a spiritual union with God. Today Turkey is a splendid mosaic, a thriving democratic country rich in Oriental history and European splendor and full of marvelous mystery and intrigue. It is a rapidly modernizing country with one foot in Europe and the other barely in the Middle East. A blend unto itself, the country is a spicy maelstrom of history knocking up against the present, the present bursting out all over the place, and the future peering back at the past. The cuisine is to die for, the coastline a dream, and its major cities and unique pockets in the country are dotted with majestic old buildings worthy of a good old-fashioned gasp. There is an enormous variety of things to see and do: from archaeology to night clubbing, hammam scrubbing to power shopping, mountain trekking to raki drinking, ferry cruising to horseback riding. Whether you leave Turkey with magnificent flying carpets, amulets to ward off evil, belly dancing tips, an appreciation of its history, or just a full belly of tasty nibbles of meze, you're likely to want to go back for more. I certainly did... hence this trip.

Straddling the Bosphorus with its skyline studded with domes and minarets, ISTANBUL is a great romantic city. Its history reaches back from Byzantium to Constantinople to its place at the head of the Ottoman Empire. Ottoman sultans contributed great mosques and palaces (and other spots in which they tucked away their mothers, sisters, wives and concubines) and the Byzantines built ancient and some of the world's mightiest churches and castles. (Aya Sofya beat St. Peter's by a millennium or so.) Today Istanbul hums as Turkey's cultural heart and good-time capital. It's well worn, but still a glorious metropolis of 10 million residents with an impressive setting straddling Europe and Asia, and an unchallenged place in the country's history, folklore, commerce and culture. Previous downbeat neighborhoods have re-emerged as artist and nightlife enclaves. Plain kebabs are getting epicurean makeovers. Old World hammams are being converted into jet-setters spas. In this sprawling, continent-spanning city you can tramp the streets where crusaders and janissaries once marched... admire mosques that are the most sublime architectural expressions of Islamic piety... peer into sultans' harems... hunt for bargains in the Kapalı Çarşı (Grand Bazaar) or in the trendy neighborhood of Nisantase... inhale the fragrance of the exotic East at Misir Carsi (Egyptian Spice Market)... dine in the wealth of slick, contemporary bars and restaurants opening in Beyoglu... feel the wind beneath your wings on a cruise up the Bosphorus... witness a dervish whirl... fancy a Turkish bath. There's a serious danger of sightseer-overload!

Optionally (should you choose to extend), CAPPADOCIA is mysterious and surprising with extraordinary, soaring rock formations, exciting hiking trails, and deep underground cities with rock-cut churches. There are unique landscapes and then there is Cappadocia. Cappadocia's fairy landscapes are the result of seas of volcanic ash solidified into soft stone, or tufa, which in turn eroded magically into deep valleys, needle-like towers, and irregular cones – volcanic rock columns that remind us of elf hats. Early Christians, on the run from the Arabs in the middle ages, carved sanctuaries into the tufa. Some of these complex mazes of homes, churches, and passageways (and underground cities) were dug eight stories underground. The Byzantine frescoes of Cappadocia's famed cave churches are among the most moving expressions of early Christian art in the world. The village of Zelve boasts the best examples of fairy chimneys (they've been inhabited since at least the ninth century). Avanos, a nearby Bronze Age town, continues to turn out pottery from the local red clay. Its cave dwellings? Still occupied. Castles and fortresses and citadels await in the Guvercinlik Valley. So does an open-air museum and a carpet workshop, where a local expert explains the patterns and techniques native to this region. The underground (literally) town of Kaymakli is a maze of caves, tunnels and subterranean rooms – these, too, still inhabited. Ever see a dervish, mid-whirl and speak with him after his hypnotic dance? Come with us and you will. It's magical – as Alan Weisman wrote in The World Without Us, "The muezzin's call to evening devotion, resounding among Cappadocia's tufa walls and spires, is like a congregation of mountains praying."

TBE Groups

As are all of our TBE Spring Flings, this is an "on-your-own" trip! Although we will probably fly on the same handful of international flights, stay in the same hotels and enjoy the same included two days of touring in Istanbul (as well as, for those extending, a special whirling dervish performance in the caravanserai and a full day of touring the Cappadocia Valley), once you arrive you are free to do exactly what you want, when you want. We have a couple of unique optional tour experiences available as well (see below), but still you control how engaged or independent you want to be – come with us on none, some or all. Join others for meals and independent activities, explore and dine exclusively on your own or partake of a combination of a little of both – the choice is yours. Whatever your travel style, leave yourself plenty of unplanned time – some of the best travel moments are those you stumble upon or spontaneously create.

Optional Tour Experiences – Istanbul

- EAST MEETS WEST CULINARY CLASS (www.cookingalaturka.com) – $80 (chef) / $40 (spectator) pp

Turkish cuisine is no longer an exotic mystery, but rather an open door for further discovery. Chef Eveline Zoutendijk, a Cordon Bleu-educated European chef hosts our private delightful and informative 4-hour, 5-course cooking class in her new restaurant's fully-equipped kitchen, located in the heart of Sultanahmet. After sipping traditional Turkish coffee, you're introduced to the mutfak (kitchen) to help prepare the meal using seasonal ingredients. Step-by-step instructions and your willing hands produce five delicious varied dishes. The $80 "hands-on" price includes dinner, two glasses of wine, and soft drinks, coffee/tea, instruction/recipes. Spouses/travel mates can join as a bystander only (no cooking) and share the meal for a reduced rate of $40 pp. TWO classes are scheduled: 10:30-2:30 / 4:30-8:30 – depart the hotel 20 minutes before, for the short walk to class (or hail your own taxi).

- ROYAL OTTOMAN TURKISH BATH (www.cagalogluhamami.com.tr) – $80 pp

After a long dusty day shopping the Grand Bazaar, take the plunge and decompress with a traditional Turkish bath and massage in the historic Cagaloglu hammam – a gift to the city in 1741 from Sultan Mehmen I. Public baths were originally founded by the Romans, who passed the tradition on to the Byzantines and from them to the Turks. Because of water shortages, baths were a public utility and provided a perfect marriage between the Koran's demand for cleanliness and the pleasure of corporeal indulgence in a beautiful setting. Although most Turkish homes have adequate plumbing today, the baths remain a social institution. Enter into this architectural gem with its high-domed ceilings and rooms filled with the sound of splashing water, the scent of soap, and wafting steam. This magnificent hammam, located in the heart of Sultanahmet will provide a cultural experience like never before. King Edward XIII, Florence Nightingale, Yerbatan Caddesi, Omar Sehrif, Tony Curtis and Harrison Ford have bared it all. Your hour-long treatment includes a steam bath, body scrub with hand-knitted oriental sponge loofa, full body dry massage, and head shampoo. Spend as much time as you like relaxing in the steam afterwards. THREE group appointments are scheduled: 3:00, 4:00, 5:00 p.m. – depart the hotel 30 minutes before, for the short walk to the hammam (or hail your own taxi).

- COCKTAILS ON THE BOSPHORUS (3-HOUR CRUISE) (www.mustafareis.com) – $80 pp

One of the best indulgences in Istanbul has to be a cruise up the Bosphorus, the 32-mile long strait that joins the Sea of Marmara with the Black Sea, separating Asia from Europe. Kick your feet up on our private chartered traditional 30-passenger boat and gaze upon colorfully lined shores of magnificent Ottoman palaces, decadent villas, castles and defensive fortresses. Salute tiny fishing boats and mighty great tankers along the way. Wine and Turkish mezes (appetizers) will be served, including: Classic rice, pine nut and herbed dolmas; Smoky eggplant salad with garlic; Spicy red lentil balls; Circassian chicken salad with walnuts; Humus; Spicy onion and bell pepper salad; Broad bean puree with dill; Pita chips, Peeled Turkish pistachios and hazelnuts; and Mediterranean olives. Our cruise is scheduled from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. – depart the hotel 1 hour before by private bus to the boat docks (it's a short ride, but traffic is intense). We cruise, rain or shine!

Optional Tour Experiences – Cappadocia

just after sunrise (weather permitting) – departure time TBA!

▪ BALLOONING – $165 pp

Many pilots believe Cappadocia is one of the best places in the world to fly in balloons. The spectacular landscape makes this experience even more breathtaking. Weather permitting and very early in the morning (just before sunrise), you'll be transferred from the hotel to the take-off site to a light breakfast snack, followed by a debriefing and a viewing of the balloon inflation. Once safely inside the basket, you'll rise in either of our two private hot air balloons and rise above the valley of Cappadocia, passing over trees and floating between heads of fairy chimneys during your one-hour flight. After landing, celebrate with a glass of champagne before being transferred back to the hotel, still with plenty of time to enjoy a full breakfast and the rest of the entire day. Our flight is scheduled

www.goremeballoons.com

▪ FLYING CARPETS, KILIM S & POTTERY (www.avanoshali.com / <http://fircaceramic.com>) – $15 pp

You'll likely pass a plethora of carpet shops during your visit to Istanbul. Go ahead, peek your head inside and chat up the shopkeeper, but under no circumstance should you buy a rug in Istanbul until you visit the Turkish carpet factory in Cappadocia. There, you'll learn how silk strands are made from boiled worms and then dyed from onion skins, tobacco and indigo. The women weave the strands into colorful well-designed carpets so you can appreciate the difference between one made on a loom and one mass produced, and then the men sell them. And boy do they! While sitting in the showroom surrounded by thousands of carpets and sipping complimentary Raki (Turkish vodka) and/or tea, watch the men roll out massive amounts of carpets, one after another after another, like a magic carpet show. Silk carpets. Wool rugs. Kilims made from cotton. Those with ancient designs and others more modern. Scrutinize them, walk on them, turn them over and feel the backside, pull out a strand and burn it – the smell will tell you if it is wool, silk, cotton or nylon. Only then (if you are remotely interested in buying a carpet) will you have some knowledge to start the bartering dance. If your favorite carpet is back in Istanbul, at least you know something more before returning on our last day for a potential ultimate purchase. When it comes to haggling over price, know your budget and make your opening offer 50 to 60% below that. Be prepared to say a firm "forget it," and walk out. Then, on another day, circle back to make another pass. The fun of carpet buying is the process. We'll also visit Avanos, best known for its pottery tradition, to tour the factory, spin a potter's wheel and purchase handmade tiles, vases and unique regional pieces. Tentatively scheduled in the afternoon – departure time TBA!

▪ HIKING CAPPADOCIA – $35 pp

The fairy chimneys and secret valleys of Cappadocia offer the opportunity for some of the most fascinating day hikes. Many of the troglodyte villages and amazing scenery are best enjoyed on foot, and walking possibilities are endless in the area. Your private guide will choose the best path(s) through cave-lived valleys and surreal rock formations based on the day's weather and the specific interests in nature and wildlife (and endurance) of the group majority. Walking will be moderate in difficulty, so bring well-worn hiking boots, layered clothing, your camera, a zest for adventure and your stamina. Price includes transportation to/from the hiking starting point as well as a naturalist to guide throughout. The cost of guide/vehicle is split between the group: $45 pp for 6 hikers, $35 for 8, $30 for 10, $25 for 12. Tentatively scheduled for the late morning – departure time TBA!

Selected Hotels – Istanbul

ARMADA HOTEL – www.armadahotel.com.tr

This 108-room, 4-star hotel is perfectly located in the center of historic Sultanahmet (old Istanbul). It's only a 10-minute uphill walk through a shabby (albeit culturally rich and colorful) neighborhood to all of the most impressive places to visit in Istanbul like the Blue Mosque and Ayasofya. It's also only 100 yards away from a wonderful bench overlooking the Bosphorus Sea. Guest rooms offer goose-down pillows and comforters along with modern bathroom amenities, robes, hairdryer, LCD television, teakettle, mini bar, free wireless Internet, and in-room safe. The hotel also has an onsite café, restaurant, bar/lounge, 24/7 room service, and a rooftop terrace offering outstanding views of the Marmara Sea and two of the greatest masterpieces of world architecture – Ayasofya and the Blue Mosque.

Selected Hotels – Cappadocia

URGUP EVI – www.urgupevi.com.tr

This award-winning and very special “cave hotel” is carved out of soft rock, fully designed with handicrafts, and tucked into the northerly end of Esbilli’s exclusive hilltop neighborhood in Urgup. The property is delightfully intimate and full of lovely textures, playful inner spaces, and secret passages with origins lost in remote antiquity. Its adjoining terraces tumble down the steep hillside with wonderful views of the Cappadocian countryside. Guest rooms have many nice sculptural touches, yet with all the modern comforts, like a private bathroom with hair dryer, direct-dial phones and heating. The hotel prepares daily home-cooked breakfasts and delicious dinners made from fresh local and organic ingredients.

NOTE: These cave hotels are 0.6 miles from each other!

YUNUK EVLERI – www.yunak.com

Listed in the “1,000 Places to See Before You Die”, Yunak Evleri is an utterly unique, charming and romantic web of tastefully restored connecting caves – six cave houses with a total of 30 private cave rooms dating back to the 5th and 6th centuries and crowned with a 19th century Greek Mansion. Guest rooms are traditional and tastefully stylish with nice antique touches and modern conveniences. They range from exotic luxury caves to multi-chamber deluxe suites (some in caves, some not), most with iron brass beds and all with warm hardwood floors, creamy white washed walls, old kilim carpets and handcrafted furniture that evokes Mediterranean Villa elegance. Most have a writing desk,

CD Player with eclectic CD Library and refreshments. Many cave rooms are reached by stone staircases. Their sunset restaurant offers a panoramic view of the town and the mountains beyond. Several cave salon provide gathering-places for guests to chat about the days adventures or tomorrow's plans, to listen to music from the inn's extensive collection of classical and jazz music CDs, or to watch television or a DVD movie from the inn's collection.

The Fine Print

- PRICE: The tour price is based on double occupancy and a minimum of 30 participants (max 45). The price is guaranteed, but if (due to unforeseen circumstances beyond the control of Teresa Beall Expeditions) our suppliers increase the costs, we will adjust the price accordingly. The price of the airfare portion is subject to change until the air tickets are issued. Should the number of participants be lower than the published minimum, the price will be adjusted accordingly or the tour will be canceled.
- DEPOSIT AND PAYMENT POLICY: A $400 pp deposit is due at the time of reservation (of which only $200 pp is refundable if cancelled prior to final payment; otherwise 100% nonrefundable). Final payment due 12/15/09. Checks are to be made payable to Teresa Beall Expeditions.
- CANCELLATION & REFUNDS: For cancellation more than 90 days prior to departure, a cancellation fee of $200 tour cost will apply. For cancellation less than 90 days prior to departure, a 100% cancellation fee of the tour cost will apply. No refunds will be paid for unused services such as transfers, sightseeing, meals, hotel accommodation, entrance fees, and others that are listed in the tour program.
- LAND ARRANGEMENTS: We reserve the right to change the itinerary due to unforeseen circumstances. In all cases, Teresa Beall Expeditions will do their best to maintain tour content. We reserve the right to change the hotel listed for another of similar quality.
- RESPONSIBILITY & LIABILITY: Whereas Teresa Beall Expeditions operate the program only as an agent of the aircraft, hotel, bus operators, local sight-seeing contractors and others who provide actual land arrangements, we are not liable for any act, omission, delay, injury, loss or damage or nonperformance occurring in connection with these tours. The Passenger contract in use by the airline concerned, when issued, shall constitute the sole contract between the airline and the purchaser of the tours and/or passenger. Teresa Beall Expeditions reserves the right to bring legal action to collect damages in the event that the purchaser fails to pay any fees due for services, including cancellation fees as listed in 'Cancellations & Refunds'. The parties agree that should legal action be commenced, the prevailing party will be entitled to reasonable attorney fees and court costs in addition to the actual damages sustained and proven.
